Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In recent decades, the integration of morphology-based and molecular taxonomy in parasitological studies has provided a crucial contribution to our knowledge of the diversity, host specificity, distribution and dynamics of parasitic organisms, in order to highlight possible emergence and re-emergence patterns and, overall, to improve our understanding of parasitic infections in animals.

Nevertheless, particularly in less investigated host–parasite systems, many taxonomy-related questions are still open.

The present Special Issue aims to collect comprehensive taxonomical studies focused on parasites of wild and farmed animals with possible applications in diagnostics, food safety, epidemiology, animal conservation and the study of host–parasite interactions.

Animals is an online open access journal that was first published in 2011. Animals adheres to rigorous peer review and editorial processes and publishes only high quality manuscripts that address important issues in the many varied disciplines that involve animals, with a focus on animal welfare, animal ethics and animal science. Animals is covered in the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE) in Web of Science and received the latest Impact Factor of 2.752. The journal ranks 14/142 (Q1) 'Veterinary Sciences' and 10/63 (Q1) in 'Agriculture, Dairy & Animal Science'

Author Benefits

Open Access:— free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, PubAg, AGRIS, Animal Science Database, CAB Abstracts, and many other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Veterinary Sciences) / CiteScore - Q2 (General Veterinary)
